THE TEST, IN NORTH CAROLINA.

The Radicals of Newberry having put a report in circulation to the effect that the white people of North Carolina, now that the election was over and the State carried by the conservatives, were turning their backs upon the colored peoical parties, I have been impressed with | ple and ignoring their rights, two colored men, one a reformer and the other a Scottite, were sent by the citizens of further security for their rights as the county to North Carolina, to ascertain the true state of the case.

The Newberry Herald says they return the gratifying intelligence "that there is not a word of truth in the abominable reports which have been say that "it is all a fabrication-that they are highly pleased with the condition of affairs, and have been treated by white and colored."

Since the above was written, a full peared, over their own signatures,

That hope revives and energy springs up, and that the their sympathy or support.

A similar degree of satisfaction is expressed by the whites. They feel that the great enemy of the peace, good will and prosperity of the two races has been measurably stripped of power, and that a better day has dawned upon the country. That effort and sacrifice were necessary to bring the change, but that the good which has resulted, more than compensates for these.
